About the job

General objective:

The aim of the program is to rehabilitate Mueda's drinking water network. It will ensure the supply of drinking water not only to the population of Mueda, but also to several IDP camps.

The camps are currently supplied in part by the drinking water network, but suffer from major irregularities linked to the state of the network and its management. To meet the population's water needs, SI has set up a water supply via water trucking, and the rehabilitation of the network is part of a strategy to move away from water trucking.

The main challenges:

The network design has been validated by several specialists, and will shortly be presented to the network operator for validation. Some readaptations will be necessary to meet the constraints, and these will be made as the program progresses.

It will also be necessary to integrate the network manager in order to make him/her more responsible for the maintenance of infrastructures and works.

Priorities for the 2/3 first months:
